To address these problems, the Navy and its contractor have revised the program several times and the program is no longer being implemented as presented to the Defense Systems Acquisition Review Counsel (DSARC). GAO found that, under the latest plan: (1) SUBACS failed to perform as effectively as originally intended; (2) additional funds will be required; (3) the delivery of the first two submarines may be delayed; and (4) submarines scheduled for authorization in fiscal years 1986...
