Y., For Business, Health Pleasure The places particularly described in the following Pages are situated in Rutland County, Vt., and in Washington County, N. Y. A circle swept from Poultney as a center and having a radius of 8 miles would include them all. Through this circle from north to south runs the Rutland and Washington Railroad, while the Whitehall and Rutland Road subtends a considerable arc of its northern half. Through it in a general direction from East to West run the Granville, the Poultney and the Castleton Rivers. The Granville is formed by the union of the Metawee or Pawlet River, the outlet of Lake Austin and Indian River, and flowing in a northwesterly direction through Granville and Whitehall unites with Wood Creek just before its discharge into Lake Champlain. The Poultney takes its rise in the town of Tinmouth and flowing through Middletown and Poultney, becomes the boundary between New York and Vermont until it empties into...
